Dear Parent/Carer,

Your child is now at an age where they should be thinking about career paths and their role in the labour market. I have included a list of websites for you and your child to go through in order for you to support them with exploring their career choices:

National Careers Service - <https://nationalcareersservice.direct.gov.uk>

The National Careers Service has lots of useful information for you to look at and research your career ideas further. There is a dedicated section for schools/students. The job profiles provide information on every known career available to date.

Career ideas - <https://www.icould.com> icould is a small, dynamic charity, providing career inspiration and information for young people. We show what is possible in work and offer different ways to think about careers through free access to over 1000 personal video stories, detailed job information, plus practical tips, insight and advice.

Course Ideas - <https://www.bestcourse4me.com>

This site helps users to explore career and study options. It shows the link between what you study, what you earn and the jobs you can get.

Career Ideas – <https://www.plotr.co.uk>

Whether you've got a career in mind or you are unsure, Plotr can help you discover your future and guide you to careers you could be great at.

At Barnhill we know the importance of careers and there have been a wide range of activities both in and out of school to support this and we are aware that pupils have different career guidance needs at different stages during their time here at Barnhill.

To find out more about what we do please visit our website under the Careers section.

Yours sincerely,

Mr A Balu
